The Ultimate Secondary School Gadget

Today, you will get to start planning your device- the ultimate device for secondary school that will make you the envy of all your friends!

Think about the things you might have to do at secondary school (including travel). What could make your life easier? What would make it more fun? What would everybody want?

You can design this ultimate gadget right now, and who knows, someone might see it and want to make it! You can even invent the technology to do it – if it doesn't exist already.

Your gadget will need a name – don't worry if this changes by the end of the week. Remember, this could be a technical sounding name, to make it sound really impressive.

Gadget name ……

Make a list of the features it will have and for each feature, make a note as to how your gadget will do this. You could set it out in a simple table like this:

Feature	How the feature works
